The exquisite novelties which come only one dress of a kind. -

Of our leadership comes from several sources outside of ourselves. The dressmakers tell us in words and more emphatically in their purchases.

Many dressmakers who have close relations with other houses come here for their high-grade dress things.

HYPERION.

Mr. Roland Reed and a good company presented "Lend Me Your Wife" to a arge audience at the Hyperion last aight. The play is a roaring farce, adapted from "Prote Moi Ta Femme," which was also a source of that very successful farce "Jane," The plot needs no description, as it follows that of 'Jane" very closely, but is not quite so broad and vulgar. Roland Reed is a clever farceur and his associates kept he house in continual laughter last night. Isadore Rush, who made a big hit here in "The Politician," was cor dially greeted. The parts were all well ast and excellently acted.

Melba will reappear at the Hyperion Monday evening after many months absence, to give an interesting concert, assisted by the members of her company, Scalchi, Bauermeister, D'Aubignand Campanari. Besides the performance of a well selected general program, Melba herself will give great pleasure by her appearance as Lucia, in the 'mad scene," Lucia di Lammermoor, ir costume, and with her company in the

It cost Charles Frohman thousands of dollars to produce "The Masqueraders" in the Empire theater, and the great success achieved there, where it ran for eight months, cost him $5,000 more. The latter expense was not reckoned on in the first estimates for the production. When Charles Frohman signed a contract with Bronson Howard to produce in the Empire last January a new American comedy which Mr Howard was writing he had no idea that he would be in possession of such an extraordinary triumph as Henry Arthur Jones' drama turned out to be. After "The Masqueraders" had been running a week Mr. Howard saw it in company with Henry Loomis Neilson the editor of Harper's Weekly. At the end of the third act both went into Mr. Frohman's office and told him that he had a great play and a great suc cuess. Mr. Howard added: "I see at once that in justice to yourself, Mr Frohman, you cannot produce my play at this house during the present season." Then Mr. Howard agreed to ac cept $5,000 in satisfaction of his con-

Elmer Grandin as "William Hope" and his wife as "Grace Hope" are both excellent actors, and received several curtain calls. Luke Vrohman as "Perc Fitsroy," a young English swell, is admirably fitted for his part, and won much applause. The other members of the company are well up to the average. The play, while filled with thril-ling scenes and incidents of English mining life, is not extravagant in any of its phases. "The Slaves of Gold" will be repeated this afternoon and evening. John E. Brennan will be seen in "Tim the Tinker" the last three nights this week. The play will be handsomely staged, several of the scenes being very There will be matinee day and Saturday.

POLI'S WONDERLAND THEATER The Hawthorne sisters are proving to ery great attraction, and the attendance so far this week has been enormous. Their singing is of the dest, their voices being rich and blending beautifully, and their dancing, which is all done in long gowns, is of the Cissy Fitzgerald order in "A Galety Girl."

sees three beautiful young women be-fore him, their handsome faces and dainty limbs peeping out now and then from snowy billows of lace that seem to envelop them from head to foot as they kick and cavort in the rhythmic unison of the dance. It is a decidedly English dance, and the young ladies return to London next week to open at the Drury Lane theater on November 15. George Fuller Golden is likewise a transatiantic artist. The specialties presented by the other artists on the Chocolate Walnuts bill are all clever and entertaining.
